Governance Evidence Review

2019–2026

64 case dossiers with effects on the state, implications for the incumbent government, explicit reasoning, assumptions and counter-findings.

Prepared for Manash Protim Deori · Research cutoff: 14 October 2026

What this package establishes. A dated, source-linked review of selected major controversies, mishaps, service gaps and mixed economic, health and education outcomes. Each conclusion distinguishes reported events from inferred political consequences.

What remains incomplete. A source dossier covers different aspects of a case. The core-source count is a publication check for the narrow main statement, not certification of every secondary fact. Shared origins, access failures and disputed details are visible. A literal exhaustive census and four independent sources for every atomic fact were not achieved.

Four-source status. 29 of 64 dossiers have at least four readable supporting publications for the narrow core statement. The other 35 remain below that threshold. All dossiers retain their evidence status; none is certified as having four independent origins for every atomic fact.

Political assessment. Implications are qualitative accountability judgments. No vote-share change, seat projection, polling finding or measured loss of trust is claimed.

How to read this review

Incumbent. BJP-led Government of Goa; Chief Minister Pramod Sawant. The research starts on 1 January 2019. Sawant took office in March 2019. Earlier decisions, Union responsibilities and local-body actions require separate attribution.

P16 · Government of Goa · Office of the Chief Minister, Goa
Accessed 14 October 2026 · Readable indexed official listing

P17 · Xinhua · Pramod Sawant sworn in as new chief minister of Goa
19 March 2019 · Readable retrieved article

Evidence hierarchy. Primary audits, official surveys, court documents and gazettes anchor the analysis where readable. Reporting documents responses, disputes and newer events. An allegation, FIR, charge, inquiry observation, court order and final conviction are separate statuses.

Source checking. The source register separates readable records from access failures. A source set can address different elements of a case. The core-source count applies to the principal statement; it does not certify every number, response or inference in a dossier. Shared CAG, NFHS, inquiry and press-release origins reduce independence.

Accountability logic. Ask who controlled the duty, whether a standard or warning existed, what action was taken, whether harm followed, and whether evidence connects the action to the harm. State, Union, local bodies, contractors, private operators, courts and natural hazards can share responsibility.

Government effect. A documented failure can increase scrutiny, demand for remedial action or reputational exposure. This depends on public awareness, attribution, corrective performance and competing priorities. Those conditions are assumptions, not observed electoral outcomes.

Counter-findings. Recovery, improvements, adverse-causation limits and official responses are included next to the criticism. Blanket claims that Goa’s economy, health or education all declined are not supported by the mixed record.

Dates. Event, audit reference period, survey fieldwork, publication and research-access dates are different. Historical audit findings do not become measured current 2026 conditions simply because they were published later.

Citation convention. Gxx identifies a dossier; Gxx-C1 its narrow core statement. Pxx denotes a selected primary document or historical anchor. Sxxx denotes a retrieved reporting/context record. Every source has a clickable URL in the bibliography; incomplete access is visible.

Contents and evidence boundaries

Statistics. Health and fiscal tables with definitions, dates and calculation limits.

Dossiers G01–G64. One dossier per case: fact; effect on Goa; incumbent implication; logic; assumptions; limitations; response; source status; readable core records and additional context.

Discrepancy register. Sixteen conflicts in figures, legal status, denominators, timing and source independence, with the chosen treatment.

Prompt coverage audit. All 49 modules of the supplied master prompt mapped to relevant dossiers or methodological requirements, with remaining gaps.

Chronological index. An event-period index; this is not a complete census of every occurrence since 2019.

Source register. Full linked records, locators, publisher metadata and access status.

Coverage is deliberately described as partial. Not every village, department, month or archive has been reviewed. Under-threshold and emerging leads are retained because silently dropping them would conceal research gaps. They must not be used as established failures.

Priority primary records still required

• Obtain readable current primary records for education indices, staffing, school closures and connectivity.

• Obtain full magisterial fire inquiry, stampede action-taken orders, oxygen committee report and final legal dispositions.

• Reconcile all case-specific numbers against four genuinely independent origins, not shared press-release lineage.

• Search all 12 talukas, monthly local-news archives, Assembly questions, CAG action-taken reports and published RTI responses.

• Complete agriculture/fisheries, housing, household-cost, sewage, bridge/road-delay and local-budget inventories.

• Refresh 2026 labour, tourism and fiscal statistics using comparable reference periods, definitions and revisions.

• Use grievance or representative survey evidence before estimating public trust, electoral effects or differences across communities.

Health: adverse signals and improvements

Selected comparable state totals; percentages. NFHS-5 versus NFHS-6, not an annual 2019–2026 series.

Indicator / population	2019–21	2023–24	Change (pp)
Women 15–49: overweight or obese	36.1	45.1	+9.0
Men 15–49: overweight or obese	32.6	43.6	+11.0
Women 15+: high blood sugar or medication	20.8	27.5	+6.7
Men 15+: high blood sugar or medication	24.1	32.1	+8.0
Population: improved water source	98.5	95.5	-3.0
Mothers: at least four antenatal visits	93.0	88.0	-5.0
Children under 5: stunted	25.8	19.4	-6.4
Children under 5: wasted	19.1	16.3	-2.8
Children under 5: underweight	24.0	19.9	-4.1
Children 12–23 months: fully vaccinated	81.9	93.8	+11.9

Percentages; NFHS-5 (2019–21) and NFHS-6 (2023–24), released 2026. Source P07, Goa factsheet PDF pages 51–53, printed pages 29–31. Changes are descriptive percentage points, not causal estimates or significance tests. Blood sugar means >140 mg/dl or taking medication, not diagnosed diabetes. Vaccination uses card or maternal recall. Read denominator and small-sample notes in the original.

P07 · Ministry of Health and Family Welfare and IIPS · NFHS-6 India and State Factsheets Goa
29 May 2026 · retrieved

Implication for government. The adverse indicators warrant preventive-care and service-access scrutiny. Improvements in child nutrition and vaccination weaken a blanket deterioration claim. A survey change alone does not isolate government causation.

Assumptions and limits. Definitions, sampling and survey design are sufficiently comparable for descriptive use. No uncertainty interval or significance claim is inferred from point estimates. Socioeconomic and behavioural factors, private care and population composition may also contribute.

Fiscal performance: a mixed record

Financial year	Nominal GSDP	Revenue balance	Capital spend
2019–20	75,032	−325	1,660
2020–21	74,158	−1,653	1,997
2021–22	84,266	59	2,681
2022–23	93,672	2,400	3,425
2023–24	106,533	1,423	3,571

Rs crore; nominal GSDP, revenue surplus (+)/deficit (−) and capital expenditure. Source P02, CAG State Finances 2023–24, Appendix 1.3, printed pages 129–130, and Chapter 1. Nominal growth is not real growth or household welfare. Adjusted debt ratio 29.93% excludes specified GST-compensation loans; the wider Rs 33,573 crore total includes approximately Rs 706 crore off-budget liabilities. Figures retain their audit reference year.

P02 · Comptroller and Auditor General of India · Goa State Finances Audit Report 3 of 2025
8 August 2025 · retrieved

Criticism supported. Debt exposure, off-budget liabilities, pending utilisation certificates and incomplete projects warrant fiscal-transparency and delivery scrutiny. G16 and G17 state the reference periods and attribution limits.

Counter-finding. Nominal GSDP and capital expenditure increased over the five-year series. Revenue deficits in 2019–20 and 2020–21 were followed by surpluses. This prevents the review from describing every fiscal measure as worsening.

Inference and assumptions. Debt service can constrain future fiscal choices when revenue or financing becomes less favourable. That is a conditional fiscal-risk argument, not proof of insolvency or a quantified loss to the economy.

Comparability. Nominal prices include inflation; GSDP estimates are revised. A revenue surplus can coexist with borrowing, and capital spending alone does not establish value for money or completed service delivery.

GMC oxygen crisis

May 2021; inquiry October 2021 · Bambolim

Fact / G01-C1. The government-appointed inquiry said GMC did not seek oxygen augmentation in time; it could not establish that pressure interruptions caused the deaths.

Effect on Goa. Patients faced a disrupted critical-care supply system during the second wave. Bereaved families faced unresolved questions about preventability.

Implication for incumbent government. Creates a serious health-administration accountability issue for the incumbent.

Underlying logic / rationale. Managing a government hospital and responding to supply warnings are public responsibilities. A failure to escalate demand can undermine confidence in emergency preparedness.

Assumptions. Public confidence depends partly on timely escalation, transparent mortality records and independent explanations.

Limits and discrepancies. The 26 overnight deaths reported in May are not a verified oxygen-attributable death count. The statewide figure of 75 deaths that day is a different denominator.

Response or counter-finding. The later panel distinguished hospital and DHS shortcomings from responsibility attributed to the state administration; oxygen infrastructure was augmented. This qualification must accompany criticism.

Verification. Below four-source threshold (3 readable supporting records). Underlying audit, survey, inquiry or official statement is shared across some publications; four citations do not establish four independent measurements.

Health workforce vacancies

Position at March 2022; audit tabled August 2024 · Statewide

Fact / G02-C1. CAG recorded a 51% shortfall of doctors and medical officers against sanctioned strength at GMC.

Effect on Goa. Vacancies constrain specialist availability and can increase workload and referrals; the audit documented related service gaps.

Implication for incumbent government. Challenges the incumbent's claim that public health capacity matches Goa's resources.

Underlying logic / rationale. The state controls sanctioned posts, recruitment and deployment. Persistent vacancies are a more direct test of administrative delivery than broad mortality comparisons.

Assumptions. The sanctioned establishment is a meaningful capacity benchmark; contract staff and actual service provision must also be considered.

Limits and discrepancies. This is a March 2022 finding, not a verified October 2026 vacancy rate. The audit period includes years before 2019.

Response or counter-finding. Recruitment initiatives, including reported junior-doctor hiring, provide a partial response; a current sanctioned-versus-filled reconciliation remains necessary.

Verification. Below four-source threshold (3 readable supporting records). Underlying audit, survey, inquiry or official statement is shared across some publications; four citations do not establish four independent measurements.

Medicine procurement and availability

2020–22 observations; August 2024 publication · Sampled health institutions

Fact / G03-C1. CAG found procurement delays and inadequate drug quality controls; sampled facilities lacked parts of the required medicine range.

Effect on Goa. Unavailable free medicines can shift purchases to patients and interrupt treatment. The audit does not quantify statewide household expenditure caused by these gaps.

Implication for incumbent government. Raises an implementation and procurement-control challenge for health leadership.

Underlying logic / rationale. Public provision promises depend on reliable purchasing, testing, storage and distribution. Failures in these controllable processes weaken the credibility of service commitments.

Assumptions. Patients could not obtain equivalent free substitutes promptly; cost effects vary by prescription and facility.

Limits and discrepancies. Sample percentages are not statewide prevalence. Distribution without batch testing indicates risk, not proof that every medicine was unsafe.

Response or counter-finding. CAG recommended a procurement policy and centralised procurement body. Completion and effectiveness of reforms require a dated compliance record.

G04 · HEALTH · Documented concern

Hospital services and infrastructure gaps

Audit through 2021–22; published 2024 · District hospitals and sampled facilities

Fact / G04-C1. The health audit reported missing ICU services at both district hospitals during the audited period and gaps in diagnostics and other essential services.

Effect on Goa. Missing services can require transfers to GMC or private care, increasing travel and dependence on tertiary facilities.

Implication for incumbent government. Creates a service-access accountability issue despite investment in buildings.

Underlying logic / rationale. A hospital building is useful only when equipment, staff and clinical services function together. The state is responsible for commissioning those capabilities.

Assumptions. Unavailable services were not consistently provided through another accessible public facility.

Limits and discrepancies. Do not treat an old audit finding as proof that the same service remains absent in 2026. Referral-related costs are an inference unless documented for patients.

Response or counter-finding. The audit proposed service and infrastructure improvements; the required followup is a facility-by-facility operational inventory.

Verification. Below four-source threshold (2 readable supporting records). Underlying audit, survey, inquiry or official statement is shared across some publications; four citations do not establish four independent measurements.

Adult overweight, obesity and blood-sugar burden

NFHS-5 to NFHS-6, 2019–21 versus 2023–24 · Statewide survey

Fact / G05-C1. NFHS-6 reports overweight or obesity among women aged 15–49 at 45.1%, versus 36.1% in NFHS-5; for men, 43.6% versus 32.6%.

Effect on Goa. These indicators signal greater chronic-disease prevention and care needs. They do not measure expenditure or deaths attributable to government policy.

Implication for incumbent government. Places prevention, screening and primary-care effectiveness under scrutiny.

Underlying logic / rationale. A worsening population risk profile increases the burden on services the state manages; it tests whether health policy addresses prevention as well as hospital treatment.

Assumptions. The survey populations and BMI definitions are sufficiently comparable; lifestyle, ageing and private choices also contribute.

Limits and discrepancies. The factsheet warns about small samples. High blood sugar or medication use is a screening indicator, not identical to clinically diagnosed diabetes prevalence.

Response or counter-finding. National and state health programmes provide context; no evaluated programme effect sufficient to explain the changes was identified.

Verification. Four-publication check; shared origins disclosed. Underlying audit, survey, inquiry or official statement is shared across some publications; four citations do not establish four independent measurements.

Water and maternal-care survey warning signs

2019–21 versus 2023–24 · Statewide survey

Fact / G06-C1. The NFHS-6 factsheet shows improved drinking-water-source coverage at 95.5%, compared with 98.5% in NFHS-5; four or more antenatal visits at 88.0%, versus 93.0%.

Effect on Goa. The reported changes warrant investigation of access, continuity and uneven coverage, including rural differences.

Implication for incumbent government. Creates a focused service-delivery question for the incumbent.

Underlying logic / rationale. Water services and maternal-health programmes are within public responsibilities. Adverse survey movement can justify scrutiny of reach and reliability.

Assumptions. Sampling variation does not fully explain the point estimates; definitions and survey composition remain comparable.

Limits and discrepancies. Improved source does not mean continuous or contamination-free water. Survey changes do not prove negligence or identify individual excluded households.

Response or counter-finding. Use current programme records to reconcile the estimates; do not substitute connection counts for household survey measures.

Verification. Below four-source threshold (3 readable supporting records). Underlying audit, survey, inquiry or official statement is shared across some publications; four citations do not establish four independent measurements.

Child nutrition and vaccination improvements

2019–21 versus 2023–24 · Statewide survey

Fact / G07-C1. NFHS-6 reports stunting at 19.4%, versus 25.8%; wasting at 16.3%, versus 19.1%; full vaccination at 93.8%, versus 81.9%.

Effect on Goa. The point estimates indicate improved child outcomes and coverage, although substantial nutritional needs remain.

Implication for incumbent government. Provides evidence that limits a blanket claim of declining public health.

Underlying logic / rationale. An accountability assessment must recognise favourable outcomes. Improvements can strengthen service credibility, without proving that one government programme caused them.

Assumptions. Comparable definitions and adequate survey precision; improved outcomes may reflect several public and household factors.

Limits and discrepancies. A journal article gives different Goa anthropometric values; the official factsheet takes precedence. Statistical significance cannot be inferred from point estimates alone.

Response or counter-finding. Retain the improvements alongside remaining gaps; seek uncertainty estimates and programme evaluation before assigning exclusive credit.

Verification. Four-publication check; shared origins disclosed. Underlying audit, survey, inquiry or official statement is shared across some publications; four citations do not establish four independent measurements.

Historical anaemia deterioration

NFHS-4 2015–16 to NFHS-5 2019–21 · Statewide survey

Fact / G08-C1. Official NFHS tables report child anaemia at 53.2%, against 48.3% in the previous round.

Effect on Goa. Anaemia is an important nutrition concern, but the comparison spans substantial time before the requested period.

Implication for incumbent government. Supports scrutiny of nutrition policy, with limited attribution to the post-2019 incumbent.

Underlying logic / rationale. A higher reported burden increases the need for programme delivery and monitoring. The observation does not isolate what changed after the incumbent took office.

Assumptions. Measurement methods are comparable and sampling uncertainty is considered.

Limits and discrepancies. A published analysis reports the Goa difference as not statistically significant. Anaemia is absent from the released NFHS-6 factsheets; no 2023–24 anaemia estimate is supplied here.

Response or counter-finding. Check nutrition-programme implementation and the promised subsequent anaemia data; do not invent a new trend.

G09 · EDUCATION · Reported concern

Teacher vacancies and temporary staffing

2025 observations; recruitment update October 2026 · Statewide

Fact / G09-C1. Reporting on the Samagra Shiksha review identified more than 800 vacancies across school levels in 2025.

Effect on Goa. Unfilled permanent posts and temporary deployment can weaken continuity and subject coverage; vacancies do not always mean classrooms had no teacher.

Implication for incumbent government. Raises a recruitment and institutional-capacity challenge for the education administration.

Underlying logic / rationale. Teacher appointment and deployment are controllable inputs. A vacancy backlog can undermine confidence that reform commitments are supported by staff.

Assumptions. The vacancies concern necessary sanctioned posts; contractual substitutes may mitigate teaching gaps.

Limits and discrepancies. The separate 838 figure uses another dated record. Do not add those figures. An October 2026 report says 83% of advertised primary posts were filled, a narrower measure.

Response or counter-finding. Recruitment and regularisation initiatives provide a response. Verify appointment orders, joining and subject-wise placement before assessing completion.

Verification. Below four-source threshold (2 readable supporting records). Underlying audit, survey, inquiry or official statement is shared across some publications; four citations do not establish four independent measurements.

School internet reliability

2026 reporting · Canacona, Quepem and Sanguem examples

Fact / G10-C1. School reporting describes unreliable internet that limits the use of smart classrooms despite administrative connectivity records.

Effect on Goa. Equipment may be underused; teachers lose lesson time and cannot consistently use online resources.

Implication for incumbent government. Challenges the implementation quality of digital-education commitments.

Underlying logic / rationale. A recorded connection is an input; usable bandwidth, power backup and coverage are the actual service. The difference can expose monitoring weaknesses.

Assumptions. The described schools are accurately reported and the issues persisted beyond isolated outages.

Limits and discrepancies. This is not a representative statewide reliability survey and does not prove that all connected schools lack service.

Response or counter-finding. The report cites private connections and local workarounds. Obtain uptime logs, school inspections and rural service contracts.

Verification. Below four-source threshold (1 readable supporting records). Underlying audit, survey, inquiry or official statement is shared across some publications; four citations do not establish four independent measurements.

Government-school closures and mergers

2020–21 onward; August 2025 reporting · Statewide

Fact / G11-C1. A report based on education records describes 67 government primary schools closed or merged over five years.

Effect on Goa. Changes can alter travel and local access. Low enrolment, demography and parental preference complicate the interpretation.

Implication for incumbent government. Creates a question about confidence in government schools and safeguards during consolidation.

Underlying logic / rationale. Persistent enrolment loss can signal perceived quality or access issues; consolidation can also be a reasonable response to small cohorts.

Assumptions. Affected pupils faced changed access or services; this requires school-specific examination.

Limits and discrepancies. The number is not independently checked against four readable sources. It is not proof that 67 communities lost education altogether.

Response or counter-finding. Authorities cite low enrolment and preference for aided or private institutions; examine pupil relocation and receiving-school capacity.

Verification. Below four-source threshold (1 readable supporting records). Underlying audit, survey, inquiry or official statement is shared across some publications; four citations do not establish four independent measurements.

Education indices improve while learning remains weak

2022–23 to reported 2025–26 assessments · State and both districts

Fact / G12-C1. Published reporting records a rise in Goa's overall school performance score; learning outcomes remain a weaker domain.

Effect on Goa. Better administrative indicators can coexist with unfinished classroom improvements.

Implication for incumbent government. Offers the incumbent a favourable overall trend while preserving an accountability question about learning.

Underlying logic / rationale. An index aggregates different domains. An improved total does not eliminate low attainment, and weak attainment does not establish that the total declined.

Assumptions. Readers distinguish state and district indices and assessment versions.

Limits and discrepancies. One article mixes district scores out of 600 with state scores out of 1,000. Newer primary PDFs could not be fully retrieved; precise latest totals remain below the verification threshold.

Response or counter-finding. Use the available improvement as a counter-finding. Obtain the current official report and assessment methodology before comparing learning scores across frameworks.

IIT campus dispute at Melauli

2020–January 2021; continuing followup · Shel-Melauli, Sattari

Fact / G13-C1. The government withdrew the proposed IIT campus location at Melauli after sustained protests and clashes during land demarcation.

Effect on Goa. Villagers faced land-use uncertainty and policing disputes; withdrawal delayed identification of a permanent campus location.

Implication for incumbent government. Challenges consultation and site-selection competence, while the withdrawal shows responsiveness.

Underlying logic / rationale. A project that depends on local land consent and suitable classification can lose time and legitimacy if those concerns are not resolved before implementation.

Assumptions. Earlier consultation could have reduced conflict; not every objection could necessarily have been resolved.

Limits and discrepancies. Withdrawal concerned the location, not abolition of IIT Goa. Land-return and criminal-case outcomes need separate current records.

Response or counter-finding. The CM announced relocation and review of protest cases. Later demands for withdrawal of cases show that the response was not identical to full resolution.

G14 · ECONOMY · Mixed finding

Mining interruption and partial restart

2019–2024 and later transition · Bicholim and mining belt

Fact / G14-C1. Fresh extraction resumed at the Bicholim auctioned block in April 2024 after the 2018 shutdown.

Effect on Goa. Mining-dependent workers and transport businesses experienced prolonged uncertainty; resumed extraction does not demonstrate full livelihood restoration.

Implication for incumbent government. Combines an accountability question about transition support with a creditable restart milestone.

Underlying logic / rationale. The government is assessed on lawful restart, relief and diversification. A court-imposed legacy shutdown cannot be assigned wholly to a leader who took office later.

Assumptions. Affected livelihoods remained dependent on mining and alternative opportunities were limited.

Limits and discrepancies. Jobs promised, operations commenced and households re-employed are different measures. No aggregate loss or full employment-recovery estimate is asserted.

Response or counter-finding. Auctions and renewed operations are material remedial actions; local employment and environmental compliance still require followup.

Persistent unemployment despite improvement

PLFS 2019–20 to 2023–24; latest series caveat · Statewide

Fact / G15-C1. PLFS-based sources put all-age usual-status unemployment at 8.5% in 2023–24, below 12.0% in 2021–22 but above the national figure cited in the same analysis.

Effect on Goa. Job access remains an economic concern even while the rate falls.

Implication for incumbent government. Tests the incumbent's employment record without supporting a claim of uninterrupted deterioration.

Underlying logic / rationale. An elevated rate can weaken confidence in economic opportunity; a declining rate weakens a narrative that conditions worsened every year.

Assumptions. Usual-status definitions, denominators and survey periods are matched.

Limits and discrepancies. New calendar-year PLFS data must not be spliced into the old July–June series without checking redesign. Registered jobseekers are not unemployment counts.

Response or counter-finding. The economic survey discusses employment initiatives; outcomes need retained-job and participation evidence rather than announcements alone.

Verification. Below four-source threshold (3 readable supporting records). Underlying audit, survey, inquiry or official statement is shared across some publications; four citations do not establish four independent measurements.

Debt exposure and fiscal limits

Accounts for 2023–24; report August 2025 · Statewide

Fact / G16-C1. CAG identified approximately Rs 706 crore of off-budget liabilities and an adjusted debt ratio of 29.93%, above the stated 25% statutory ceiling.

Effect on Goa. Debt service can constrain future spending flexibility. The report does not establish insolvency.

Implication for incumbent government. Creates a fiscal-discipline accountability issue for the finance administration.

Underlying logic / rationale. Borrowing outside headline accounts obscures obligations; a breached statutory ratio warrants explanation even if annual deficit targets are met.

Assumptions. The audit classification and applicable fiscal-law treatment are used consistently.

Limits and discrepancies. The debt ratio excludes specified GST-compensation loans. Dividing the headline debt total by GSDP without those adjustments gives a different ratio.

Response or counter-finding. CAG also records revenue surpluses, capital spending growth and compliance with amended fiscal-deficit limits. These counter-facts materially qualify criticism.

Verification. Four-publication check; shared origins disclosed. Underlying audit, survey, inquiry or official statement is shared across some publications; four citations do not establish four independent measurements.

Budget utilisation and financial reporting

March 2024 position; historical backlog · Statewide

Fact / G17-C1. CAG reported pending utilisation certificates and unregularised excess expenditure from earlier years.

Effect on Goa. Unresolved accounts weaken assurance that spending achieved its stated purpose and that legislative control operated effectively.

Implication for incumbent government. Raises a transparency and follow-through issue for the incumbent.

Underlying logic / rationale. Current administrations inherit backlogs but are accountable for resolving them and preventing additions. An unresolved certificate indicates missing assurance, not automatic theft.

Assumptions. The backlog remained unresolved at the recorded audit date.

Limits and discrepancies. The excess-expenditure period begins in 2008–09. It cannot all be described as money misused since 2019 or assigned to the current CM.

Response or counter-finding. CAG reports no excess expenditure in 2023–24 itself. Followup requires dated regularisation, reconciliations and accepted certificates.

National Social Assistance Programme delivery

Audit observations through 2021–22; tabled 2025 · Eligible vulnerable households

Fact / G18-C1. CAG's official summary says further central NSAP assistance was not received during 2016–17 to 2021–22 because of utilisation and documentation failures.

Effect on Goa. Eligible pension beneficiaries faced a programme-delivery shortfall; other state pensions must be assessed separately.

Implication for incumbent government. Creates a strong welfare-administration accountability question.

Underlying logic / rationale. Failure to use funds and submit required records can interrupt assistance despite scheme eligibility. This is a documented implementation mechanism rather than a generic allegation.

Assumptions. The audit correctly identifies administrative failures as the reason for withheld scheme funds.

Limits and discrepancies. The observation is specific to NSAP, not proof that all pensions stopped. Its origin predates 2019 and current beneficiaries require updated records.

Response or counter-finding. The critical followup is scheme-wise disbursement and reconciliation of central assistance; no verified complete remedy is established in the sources used.

Construction-worker welfare failures

2017–22 audit; tabled August 2025 · Both districts

Fact / G19-C1. CAG found weak establishment registration, delayed cess processes, inadequate inspections and missing annual accounts from 2018–19.

Effect on Goa. Workers can miss welfare access while employers operate outside effective safety oversight.

Implication for incumbent government. Challenges labour protection and administration of earmarked welfare funds.

Underlying logic / rationale. The scheme depends on identifying establishments, collecting cess and enrolling workers. Weaknesses at each step reduce the chance that resources reach eligible people.

Assumptions. The sampled failures reflect material implementation problems; individual worker losses differ.

Limits and discrepancies. Several statutory implementation delays began long before 2019. The audit sample is not a census of every employer.

Response or counter-finding. The government gave explanations and assurances in the audit. Verify subsequent accounts, registrations, inspections and benefits paid.

Verification. Below four-source threshold (2 readable supporting records). Underlying audit, survey, inquiry or official statement is shared across some publications; four citations do not establish four independent measurements.

Solid waste treatment gaps

2017–22 audit; tabled January 2026 · Urban local bodies

Fact / G20-C1. CAG reported that an average of 78% of collected waste across the urban bodies was treated during the audited period.

Effect on Goa. Untreated waste contributes to dumpsites and raises environmental and public-health exposure.

Implication for incumbent government. Creates a municipal-capacity and state-oversight challenge.

Underlying logic / rationale. Collection without processing shifts the problem to dumps. State policy, municipal staffing and waste infrastructure must work together to deliver disposal.

Assumptions. The audit's collection and treatment records are adequate; uncollected waste is not included in this denominator.

Limits and discrepancies. The figure is not 22% of all waste generated statewide, nor a measurement of 2026 treatment. Sampled planning findings and statewide reported treatment data have different scope.

Response or counter-finding. Policy was revised in 2024; subsequent capacity and operating data are needed to test improvement.

Verification. Below four-source threshold (2 readable supporting records). Underlying audit, survey, inquiry or official statement is shared across some publications; four citations do not establish four independent measurements.

EDC loan management weaknesses

2018–19 to 2022–23 audit; published 2026 · State development finance

Fact / G21-C1. CAG identified appraisal, security, interest-rate and recovery weaknesses in EDC loan management.

Effect on Goa. Weak lending controls can reduce recoveries and the effective use of development finance.

Implication for incumbent government. Raises stewardship questions concerning support for businesses and MSMEs.

Underlying logic / rationale. Public financial institutions must allocate capital transparently and recover loans consistently. Unjustified concessions or weak recovery can impair available resources.

Assumptions. Audit observations remain material after considering management replies and recoveries.

Limits and discrepancies. A loan default does not itself prove corruption. Retained profits are not necessarily idle loss; alternative uses require proper appraisal.

Response or counter-finding. Use management replies and subsequent recovery statements to distinguish closed observations from continuing problems.

Verification. Below four-source threshold (2 readable supporting records). Underlying audit, survey, inquiry or official statement is shared across some publications; four citations do not establish four independent measurements.

River Sal desilting procurement

Transactions audited through March 2023; report 2026 · River Sal

Fact / G22-C1. CAG reported an undue benefit of Rs 3.14 crore in nomination-based desilting contracts.

Effect on Goa. The finding identifies a specific value-for-money concern in public works.

Implication for incumbent government. Creates a procurement-accountability issue for responsible departments.

Underlying logic / rationale. A quantified audit finding tied to contract procedure is stronger evidence than an untested general corruption charge.

Assumptions. The audit's cost and procedural comparisons are accepted after departmental response.

Limits and discrepancies. The amount is an audit-assessed undue benefit, not a proven bribe or a criminal conviction. Four independent corroborating records were not retrieved.

Response or counter-finding. Obtain action-taken reports, recovery orders and any disciplinary or criminal outcome before asserting final culpability.

Verification. Below four-source threshold (2 readable supporting records). Underlying audit, survey, inquiry or official statement is shared across some publications; four citations do not establish four independent measurements.

Idle expenditure on land acquisition

Audit through March 2023; tabled 2026 · State development projects

Fact / G23-C1. CAG's compliance report identified Rs 70.45 crore of idle expenditure on financially unviable land acquisition.

Effect on Goa. Resources committed to unused land have an opportunity cost for alternative public investment.

Implication for incumbent government. Raises appraisal and project-planning questions for the incumbent.

Underlying logic / rationale. Acquisition should be supported by feasible delivery plans. Documented non-utilisation tests the quality of investment decisions.

Assumptions. The land remained unused at the audit's assessment date and an alternative use did not subsequently recover value.

Limits and discrepancies. Idle expenditure is not identical to permanent loss: land can retain value. No claim of a Rs 70.45 crore theft is justified.

Response or counter-finding. A current asset-use and valuation record is needed to assess whether the observation has been remedied.

Verification. Below four-source threshold (2 readable supporting records). Underlying audit, survey, inquiry or official statement is shared across some publications; four citations do not establish four independent measurements.

Section 17(2) planning rules curtailed

March–July 2025; later status needs checking · Statewide zoning

Fact / G24-C1. The High Court read down Section 17(2) and struck down the associated 2023 rules; reporting records no interim Supreme Court stay in July 2025.

Effect on Goa. The ruling constrained the challenged zoning mechanism and generated uncertainty over individual approvals.

Implication for incumbent government. Creates a direct legal-design and planning accountability challenge.

Underlying logic / rationale. Judicial rejection of rules on statutory and constitutional grounds undermines the administration’s defence of that mechanism.

Assumptions. The operative orders are distinguished from political descriptions of a land scam.

Limits and discrepancies. The provision was read down, not simply erased. Individual approvals require their own legal assessment; current appeal status must be checked before acting.

Response or counter-finding. The minister defended the parent provision and the government challenged the judgment. A refused interim stay is not a final merits decision by the Supreme Court.

Verification. Four-publication check; shared origins disclosed. Underlying audit, survey, inquiry or official statement is shared across some publications; four citations do not establish four independent measurements.

Section 39A conversions and protests

February 2024 onward; major protests February 2026 · Several talukas; St Andre

Fact / G25-C1. Section 39A introduced a process for changing land zones; protests in 2026 demanded repeal and led to suspension of specified St Andre changes.

Effect on Goa. Parcel-level changes raise questions about ecological safeguards, consultation and infrastructure demand.

Implication for incumbent government. Creates a land-governance legitimacy challenge for the incumbent.

Underlying logic / rationale. Discretionary conversions can be perceived as favouring private development when objections and cumulative effects are not explained convincingly.

Assumptions. Residents understand and care about the approval process; specific environmental damage requires separate evidence.

Limits and discrepancies. Controversy does not prove every conversion illegal. A reported converted-area total is not a measured loss of forest or completed construction.

Response or counter-finding. Officials defend transparency and resist repeal; the St Andre suspension is a partial response, not repeal of the statewide mechanism.

Verification. Four-publication check; shared origins disclosed. Underlying audit, survey, inquiry or official statement is shared across some publications; four citations do not establish four independent measurements.

Forged property transfers and land-grab cases

SIT formed June 2022; cases and followup through 2026 · Bardez and other locations

Fact / G26-C1. The state constituted a land-grab SIT after complaints about transfers using forged records; later reporting describes continuing investigations and special courts.

Effect on Goa. Owners and buyers faced insecure title, litigation and delayed remedies.

Implication for incumbent government. Challenges record integrity while allowing credit for investigations and specialist courts.

Underlying logic / rationale. Fraudulent transfers expose safeguards in registration, mutation and archives. Remedial enforcement is relevant but does not erase earlier vulnerabilities.

Assumptions. Public processes were used or bypassed in the described transfers; not all complaints involve an organised racket.

Limits and discrepancies. Complaints, FIRs, chargesheets and convictions are different counts. ED attachment is provisional and not restitution to an owner.

Response or counter-finding. SIT, a commission and designated courts are documented responses. Translation of old records and forensic delays were cited as obstacles.

Verification. Below four-source threshold (3 readable supporting records). Underlying audit, survey, inquiry or official statement is shared across some publications; four citations do not establish four independent measurements.

Assagao demolition and police conduct

June 2024; subsequent proceedings · Assagao, Bardez

Fact / G27-C1. Partial demolition of an occupied house prompted a government inquiry; a police report alleged pressure from the DGP.

Effect on Goa. The family experienced property harm and a dispute over police protection; the incident affected trust in impartial enforcement.

Implication for incumbent government. Creates a policing-accountability and property-protection challenge.

Underlying logic / rationale. If officers failed to protect occupants or faced improper instructions, a private dispute would reveal institutional vulnerability. The allegations must be tested.

Assumptions. The reported account is accurate; title and possession issues do not by themselves justify unlawful force.

Limits and discrepancies. The alleged pressure is not a judicial finding of guilt. Transfer and suspension are administrative actions; reinstatement is not necessarily exoneration.

Response or counter-finding. The CM ordered an inquiry; the DGP was transferred and an inspector’s suspension later revoked. Reporting on chargesheet omissions adds an unresolved followup.

Mollem railway wildlife clearance

2020–May 2022; REC followup March 2026 · Castle Rock–Kulem protected landscape

Fact / G28-C1. The Supreme Court set aside the challenged wildlife clearance for railway doubling in May 2022.

Effect on Goa. The ruling protected the affected landscape from that approval while requiring reconsideration of claimed transport benefits and ecological safeguards.

Implication for incumbent government. Challenges the credibility of the government-backed justification and approval process.

Underlying logic / rationale. A court rejecting supporting evidence and clearance reasoning is a concrete governance setback; state backing and central approvals involve shared responsibility.

Assumptions. The order's segment and type of clearance are accurately identified.

Limits and discrepancies. The ruling did not cancel every railway work in Goa or all three Mollem projects. Later clearance proposals require separate status checks.

Response or counter-finding. Project agencies defended capacity needs. A 2026 advocacy statement reports rejection of restoration requests; retrieve the REC record before treating that update as a final independent finding.

Other Mollem linear projects

2020 onward · Bhagwan Mahavir and Mollem landscape

Fact / G29-C1. Highway expansion and a transmission line were separately contested alongside railway doubling.

Effect on Goa. The proposals raised habitat, land-use and consultation concerns while seeking road and electricity benefits.

Implication for incumbent government. Creates a scrutiny issue over cumulative planning and alternatives.

Underlying logic / rationale. Several projects affecting one landscape should be assessed cumulatively; examining them separately can miss combined exposure.

Assumptions. The projects' impacts overlap geographically and alternative routes were practicable enough to examine.

Limits and discrepancies. The railway judgment cannot establish illegality or actual damage for the highway or transmission line. Their current operative clearances were not fully verified here.

Response or counter-finding. Keep this case below the verification threshold and obtain project-specific permissions, conditions and completion records.

Mhadei interstate water dispute

2022–October 2026 developments · Mhadei basin

Fact / G30-C1. CWC appraisal of Karnataka's diversion proposals generated objections; Goa pursued litigation and requested inspection, while a 2026 report describes withheld wildlife clearance.

Effect on Goa. The dispute concerns potential downstream water and ecological effects; measured loss attributable to an operational diversion is not established here.

Implication for incumbent government. Tests the incumbent's ability to defend water interests and communicate progress.

Underlying logic / rationale. Residents may judge legal preparation and monitoring as protection of a critical resource. Responsibilities also belong to Karnataka and Union authorities.

Assumptions. The proposed or alleged diversions would materially affect downstream conditions; hydrological evidence is required.

Limits and discrepancies. DPR appraisal is not all statutory clearance. Goa's allegations of diversion are not independent flow measurements, and the reported hold is not permanent settlement.

Response or counter-finding. Goa filed challenges and sought PRAWAH inspection; the reported clearance hold limits claims that the government had simply conceded the dispute.

Verification. Four-publication check; shared origins disclosed. Underlying audit, survey, inquiry or official statement is shared across some publications; four citations do not establish four independent measurements.

Mopa environmental appraisal setback

March 2019–January 2020; airport later operational · Mopa, Pernem

Fact / G31-C1. The Supreme Court suspended Mopa's environmental clearance in March 2019; the suspension was lifted after reconsideration in January 2020.

Effect on Goa. The process imposed additional scrutiny and delayed project progress; later operation is relevant to the outcome.

Implication for incumbent government. Challenges initial appraisal quality but also records corrective progress.

Underlying logic / rationale. Material omissions in an environmental process are a governance concern. Reappraisal and eventual clearance cannot be omitted from the assessment.

Assumptions. A more complete original assessment could have avoided some delay.

Limits and discrepancies. This is not proof the airport permanently lacked clearance or that it produced a net economic loss. Earlier planning and Union appraisal spread responsibility.

Response or counter-finding. Additional environmental information and conditions supported the subsequent lifting of suspension.

Coal handling and freight pollution concerns

2019 onward · Mormugao, Vasco and freight corridors

Fact / G32-C1. Residents contested coal handling and transport; pollution-control records and litigation document regulatory oversight of port activities.

Effect on Goa. Dust, traffic and noise concerns affect residential amenity and livelihoods, subject to measured exposure evidence.

Implication for incumbent government. Creates a balancing and enforcement challenge for state regulators and port-linked policy.

Underlying logic / rationale. Economic freight benefits do not remove duties to control pollution. Failure to enforce conditions can weaken confidence in environmental protection.

Assumptions. Pollution complained of is attributable to the relevant operations and not other sources.

Limits and discrepancies. Mormugao Port is not solely controlled by the state. General complaints do not establish individual disease causation or prove all port activity unlawful.

Response or counter-finding. Regulatory consents and court decisions must be evaluated alongside protests. Obtain site-specific monitoring and compliance data.

January 2024 and later works · Mala, Panaji and Ribandar

Fact / G33-C1. Ayush Halarnkar died after his motorcycle fell into a sewerage-work trench on New Year’s Day 2024.

Effect on Goa. The death and surrounding complaints made worksite safety and construction coordination a major public concern.

Implication for incumbent government. Challenges the credibility of urban-project supervision.

Underlying logic / rationale. Government project agencies must supervise safe construction. A fatal worksite incident warrants scrutiny even where the immediate cause is disputed.

Assumptions. The worksite condition contributed materially and appropriate safeguards were reasonably available.

Limits and discrepancies. Relatives alleged inadequate barricading; an official claimed double barricades and high-speed entry. Final negligence findings are not established by those competing statements.

Response or counter-finding. GHRC issued notices and the CM announced review. Completion statements must be checked separately from accident responsibility.

Kala Academy renovation and repeated defects

2023 collapse; 2026 inspection reporting · Campal, Panaji

Fact / G34-C1. After the 2023 roof collapse, 2026 reporting on an IIT Madras inspection described structural and waterproofing deficiencies at Kala Academy.

Effect on Goa. Repairs and proposed closures disrupt performances, teaching and use of a major cultural facility.

Implication for incumbent government. Creates a substantial workmanship and public-investment accountability issue.

Underlying logic / rationale. Repeated defects after renovation question whether spending produced a reliable asset and whether technical supervision was adequate.

Assumptions. The inspected defects reflect relevant work or maintenance failures; technical causation must distinguish renovation from old structural deterioration.

Limits and discrepancies. Do not combine varying announced renovation costs into an invented loss. The cause of the earlier collapse and defects in later works are related but distinct questions.

Response or counter-finding. A task force and repair proposals provide a response; current closure, completed remedies and contractor liability require dated records.

Old Goa heritage bungalow dispute

2020–2026 · Ella, Old Goa

Fact / G35-C1. An official February 2026 statement says the ASI removal order was challenged and the matter remained before the Supreme Court.

Effect on Goa. The dispute concerns construction within a protected heritage setting and the effectiveness of oversight.

Implication for incumbent government. Raises a heritage-protection and permission-accountability question.

Underlying logic / rationale. Public trust depends on consistent enforcement around protected monuments; procedural failures can delay enforcement even when an authority seeks demolition.

Assumptions. The disputed work exceeded valid permissions; the inspection and final judicial findings must be distinguished.

Limits and discrepancies. The High Court quashed the ASI order in 2023; litigation prevents treating demolition as a legally settled obligation. Alleged new construction is not identical to a final judgment.

Response or counter-finding. ASI pursued action and the Supreme Court appointed inspection oversight. The reported inspection conclusion needs the operative final order for resolution.

G36 · PUBLIC SAFETY · Documented safety failure

Birch by Romeo Lane fire

6 December 2025; proceedings through October 2026 · Arpora, Bardez

Fact / G36-C1. The Arpora nightclub fire killed 25 people; reporting on the magisterial inquiry identifies failures in licensing and enforcement.

Effect on Goa. Deaths devastated families and workers and exposed hazards in tourism-linked commercial premises.

Implication for incumbent government. Creates a severe safety and regulatory-accountability challenge for the incumbent.

Underlying logic / rationale. Documented missed licensing and enforcement safeguards make the case more directly connected to governance than a private fire without prior regulatory failures.

Assumptions. Enforcement of documented duties could have materially reduced exposure; criminal causation remains for adjudication.

Limits and discrepancies. Early reports suggested a gas explosion; later investigation focused on indoor pyrotechnics. Bail developments changed repeatedly and do not decide guilt.

Response or counter-finding. The state appointed an inquiry, police filed a chargesheet and authorities undertook inspections. The inquiry's public availability and administrative outcomes remain important accountability questions.

Verification. Four-publication check; shared origins disclosed. Underlying audit, survey, inquiry or official statement is shared across some publications; four citations do not establish four independent measurements.

Shirgao festival stampede

3 May 2025; inquiry May 2025 · Shirgao, Bicholim

Fact / G37-C1. Six people died in the Lairai festival stampede; the inquiry described preventable coordination and crowd-management lapses.

Effect on Goa. Families lost lives and many devotees were injured; the incident put large-event safety under scrutiny.

Implication for incumbent government. Creates a substantial district-administration and policing accountability issue.

Underlying logic / rationale. An inquiry linking a tragedy to avoidable management failures supports scrutiny of preparedness rather than treating the incident only as misfortune.

Assumptions. The inquiry's findings are reliable and appropriate crowd arrangements were feasible.

Limits and discrepancies. Injury totals evolved from early reports; one early headline said seven deaths. The temple committee disputed parts of the inquiry, which must be included.

Response or counter-finding. Authorities investigated and issued show-cause notices; these are not final disciplinary findings. Obtain final action and later festival-safety records.

G38 · TRANSPORT · Mixed statistical finding

Road fatalities and safety enforcement

2023–2025; 2026 partial followup · Statewide

Fact / G38-C1. Traffic reporting records 290 road deaths in 2023, about 286–287 in 2024 and 269 in 2025.

Effect on Goa. The continuing death toll imposes household loss, injury burdens and emergency-service demand despite a recent reduction.

Implication for incumbent government. Keeps road safety an accountability issue but does not support a continuously rising death trend.

Underlying logic / rationale. Authorities influence engineering, enforcement and response; driver behaviour and exposure also matter. A missed reduction target is different from an increase in deaths.

Assumptions. Police recording and reference periods are comparable.

Limits and discrepancies. Sources disagree by one on the 2024 total. Fatal crashes and persons killed are distinct; a reported percentage reduction in one article is arithmetically inconsistent.

Response or counter-finding. Police announced a 20% reduction target and reported a smaller actual reduction. Obtain the definitive annual release and exposure-adjusted analysis.

Verification. Four-publication check; shared origins disclosed. Underlying audit, survey, inquiry or official statement is shared across some publications; four citations do not establish four independent measurements.

Khandepar pipeline failure

August 2019 · Tiswadi and Ponda

Fact / G39-C1. A landslide damaged major water pipelines at Curti-Khandepar and interrupted supply for several days.

Effect on Goa. Households and institutions faced shortages and dependence on emergency arrangements.

Implication for incumbent government. Raises resilience and backup-supply questions for the incumbent.

Underlying logic / rationale. Extreme rain is an external trigger, but network redundancy and restoration arrangements are public-service responsibilities.

Assumptions. Alternative supply capacity could have reduced the disruption at reasonable cost.

Limits and discrepancies. The initial four-day repair forecast was not the realised interruption everywhere. Separate reports cover different localities and restoration stages.

Response or counter-finding. PWD restored pipelines in stages. Examine engineering inspections and redundancy investments rather than assuming deliberate neglect.

Verification. Four-publication check; shared origins disclosed. Underlying audit, survey, inquiry or official statement is shared across some publications; four citations do not establish four independent measurements.

Electricity reliability concerns

April 2024–March 2026 reporting · Several divisions

Fact / G40-C1. A report based on power-sector data describes repeated planned and unplanned interruptions, with high counts in Curchorem and Ponda.

Effect on Goa. Interruptions can affect household convenience, businesses, students and public facilities.

Implication for incumbent government. Tests the incumbent's reliability commitments and distribution-network management.

Underlying logic / rationale. Service reliability depends on maintenance and adequate capacity. Monitoring outages is necessary to judge whether investments improve actual supply.

Assumptions. Unplanned interruptions were material; planned maintenance may improve later reliability.

Limits and discrepancies. Division outage totals cannot be treated as statewide simultaneous blackouts. Consumer-event counts may include repeat consumers; hours cannot simply be added as household downtime.

Response or counter-finding. Official monthly reports allow followup. Distinguish maintenance, weather and equipment failures before quantifying avoidable loss.

Verification. Below four-source threshold (3 readable supporting records). Underlying audit, survey, inquiry or official statement is shared across some publications; four citations do not establish four independent measurements.

Cyclone Tauktae damage and relief

May 2021 · Statewide, including coastal agriculture

Fact / G41-C1. Official records document deaths, house damage and agricultural losses from Cyclone Tauktae in Goa.

Effect on Goa. Power infrastructure, homes and livelihoods were disrupted; compensation needs varied by locality and damage category.

Implication for incumbent government. Tests preparedness, restoration and relief delivery, without making the storm itself proof of bad governance.

Underlying logic / rationale. Governments cannot prevent a cyclone but can reduce vulnerability and deliver timely recovery support.

Assumptions. Some losses were mitigable and relief processes affected recovery.

Limits and discrepancies. Reported monetary losses changed as assessments expanded. Rs 40 crore, Rs 146 crore and later higher estimates cannot be treated as the same final figure.

Response or counter-finding. Compensation was sanctioned and restoration undertaken. Sanction is not proof that every eligible claimant received payment.

Verification. Four-publication check; shared origins disclosed. Underlying audit, survey, inquiry or official statement is shared across some publications; four citations do not establish four independent measurements.

July 2021 floods

23 July 2021 onward · Sattari, Bicholim, Ponda and other talukas

Fact / G42-C1. Severe flooding damaged homes and infrastructure and required evacuations in July 2021.

Effect on Goa. Residents experienced displacement, interrupted access and damage to household and farm assets.

Implication for incumbent government. Creates a resilience and recovery-delivery test for the incumbent.

Underlying logic / rationale. Exceptional rainfall explains the hazard; preparedness, drainage, land-use control and assistance determine part of the eventual damage and recovery.

Assumptions. Public measures could reduce exposure in at least some affected locations.

Limits and discrepancies. Early reports recorded no deaths; later reports recorded one. The phrase worst in 40 years is a reported characterisation, not a independently reconstructed hydrological ranking.

Response or counter-finding. Rescue and compensation commitments are documented. Verify payments and repeated-risk treatment before concluding relief failure.

Verification. Four-publication check; shared origins disclosed. Underlying audit, survey, inquiry or official statement is shared across some publications; four citations do not establish four independent measurements.

March 2023 forest fires

March 2023 · Mhadei and other forest locations

Fact / G43-C1. The Forest Department produced a report on fires affecting multiple locations in March 2023.

Effect on Goa. Fires created ecological exposure and required substantial response coordination.

Implication for incumbent government. Raises questions about surveillance, prevention and firefighting capacity.

Underlying logic / rationale. Known fire risk and protected-area duties make preparedness relevant; documented response should be assessed alongside the occurrence.

Assumptions. Earlier detection or mitigation could reduce at least some damage.

Limits and discrepancies. Do not assume intentional arson or assign all affected forest as permanently destroyed. Area, vegetation loss and recovery require separate measures.

Response or counter-finding. Forest staff and additional response resources were mobilised; review recommendations, staffing and subsequent prevention measures.

Verification. Below four-source threshold (2 readable supporting records). Underlying audit, survey, inquiry or official statement is shared across some publications; four citations do not establish four independent measurements.

Tiger poisoning and wildlife conflict

January 2020 discoveries · Mhadei landscape, Sattari

Fact / G44-C1. Four tiger carcasses were discovered in the Mhadei landscape; forest officials reported poisoning and arrests.

Effect on Goa. The deaths exposed conflict between wildlife conservation and livestock-dependent households.

Implication for incumbent government. Challenges preventive conservation and conflict-response systems.

Underlying logic / rationale. Timely compensation, outreach and enforcement may reduce retaliatory risks; private offences remain distinct from public negligence.

Assumptions. Unresolved livestock losses or response gaps contributed to the incident; that mechanism needs case evidence.

Limits and discrepancies. Reports differ on age and sex descriptions of the animals. Use the verified count and avoid unconfirmed family descriptions or claiming all Goa tigers were lost.

Response or counter-finding. Investigations and arrests were undertaken. The final prosecution outcome and compensation history were not fully established.

G45 · ECONOMY · Mixed finding

Tourism recovery and foreign-segment weakness

2023–2025 data and reporting · Statewide

Fact / G45-C1. Official tourism data report higher total arrivals, while reporting identifies weaker charter and foreign segments relative to earlier peaks.

Effect on Goa. Growth in total visitors can coexist with pressure on businesses serving different markets.

Implication for incumbent government. Limits a blanket tourism-collapse claim while testing diversification and data transparency.

Underlying logic / rationale. Segment composition, spending and seasonality matter as much as headline arrivals. Higher volume does not prove every business prospered.

Assumptions. Counting methods are consistent enough for comparison; expenditure differences across segments are substantiated.

Limits and discrepancies. Transport passengers and tourist arrivals must not be conflated. Published figures and methodology have been challenged; no statewide lost-revenue total is verified.

Response or counter-finding. The tourism department defended its data and recovery trajectory. Obtain methods, nights stayed, spending and segment-level outcomes.

Verification. Four-publication check; shared origins disclosed. Underlying audit, survey, inquiry or official statement is shared across some publications; four citations do not establish four independent measurements.

Taxi disputes and visitor mobility

2023–2025 and continuing · Mopa, Dabolim, Canacona and tourism corridors

Fact / G46-C1. Taxi operators protested app-based services and airport arrangements; reporting documents continuing conflicts over visitor transport.

Effect on Goa. Disputes can restrict choice, create travel uncertainty and threaten operator income during transition.

Implication for incumbent government. Tests the incumbent's ability to reconcile consumer access with livelihoods.

Underlying logic / rationale. A functioning transport policy must provide predictable rules and enforce them. Recurrent conflict suggests unresolved implementation.

Assumptions. The reported disputes affected a meaningful number of trips; statewide economic loss is not measured.

Limits and discrepancies. Do not describe all taxi operators as a criminal monopoly. Individual harassment allegations require verification; fares depend on distance and service.

Response or counter-finding. Authorities supported apps and negotiated stands or operating arrangements. Assess actual availability, enforcement and affordability.

Verification. Four-publication check; shared origins disclosed. Underlying audit, survey, inquiry or official statement is shared across some publications; four citations do not establish four independent measurements.

Velingkar remarks and public protests

October 2024 · Margao, Old Goa and other places

Fact / G47-C1. Remarks about Saint Francis Xavier prompted complaints, an FIR and protests; Church bodies appealed for restraint.

Effect on Goa. The dispute strained public trust and briefly disrupted public activity in affected locations.

Implication for incumbent government. Tests impartial policing and the incumbent's credibility in protecting community harmony.

Underlying logic / rationale. The government is accountable for fair, timely enforcement and de-escalation, not automatically for every private speaker's words.

Assumptions. Affected communities assess state responses as indicators of equal protection.

Limits and discrepancies. An FIR is an allegation, not a conviction. Former organisational affiliation does not prove the incumbent directed or endorsed the remarks.

Response or counter-finding. Police action and appeals for peace are documented. Include restraint and cessation of protests alongside concern.

Verification. Four-publication check; shared origins disclosed. Underlying audit, survey, inquiry or official statement is shared across some publications; four citations do not establish four independent measurements.

Shivaji-related religious controversies

August 2023 and related developments · Vasco, Chicalim and other locations

Fact / G48-C1. A priest’s remarks led to an FIR and demonstrations; separate statue-related disputes generated further police action.

Effect on Goa. Residents faced apprehension and disruption; different incidents must not be merged into one assumed communal riot.

Implication for incumbent government. Creates an equal-enforcement and de-escalation test for government.

Underlying logic / rationale. Public authorities need consistent standards for speech complaints, protection and lawful assembly across communities.

Assumptions. The disputes threatened relations beyond the immediate complainants; wider effects require evidence.

Limits and discrepancies. Do not infer who vandalised a statue from the prior sermon controversy. The accused’s clarification and the difference between criticism and a legal offence matter.

Response or counter-finding. Police registered offences; reporting describes appeals for calm and return to routine. Final court outcomes require followup.

Proposed anti-conversion bill halted

August–September 2026 · State legislature

Fact / G49-C1. After cabinet approval, the government did not introduce the proposed anti-conversion bill in the relevant monsoon session following objections.

Effect on Goa. The proposal prompted concern about freedom and harmony; feared enforcement consequences were prospective.

Implication for incumbent government. Creates a consultation and coalition-coordination challenge, while withdrawal can be read as responsiveness.

Underlying logic / rationale. Objections from supporting legislators and community organisations question the policy-development process. Deferral avoids assuming the feared harms already occurred.

Assumptions. The objections were substantive and public consultation could have improved the proposal.

Limits and discrepancies. The proposal is not an enacted or operative law in the evidence cited. Criticisms of potential misuse are predictions, not measured outcomes.

Response or counter-finding. The CM and supporting legislators said further study and consultation were needed; record the decision as a qualification to criticism.

Verification. Below four-source threshold (3 readable supporting records). Underlying audit, survey, inquiry or official statement is shared across some publications; four citations do not establish four independent measurements.

Defections and democratic accountability

July 2019; September 2022; litigation through 2026 · State assembly

Fact / G50-C1. Large groups of Congress legislators joined the BJP in 2019 and 2022; the episodes generated disqualification litigation.

Effect on Goa. The changes altered legislative representation and opposition strength; a service-delivery effect is not established.

Implication for incumbent government. Strengthened the governing party numerically while creating a mandate and trust controversy.

Underlying logic / rationale. Legislative consolidation can improve voting stability, but voters may view party switching as weakening electoral accountability. These effects can run in opposite directions.

Assumptions. Voters attach importance to party mandate; actual opinion requires polling rather than inference.

Limits and discrepancies. The High Court rejected 2019 disqualification pleas; a later report says the Supreme Court disposed of that petition as infructuous. That does not settle every question about 2022.

Response or counter-finding. The merger justification and operative legal decisions must be presented alongside political criticism.

Sunburn-associated deaths and event safety

December 2019; distinct December 2024 case · Vagator and event-linked locations

Fact / G51-C1. Deaths in and around the 2019 festival prompted investigation and debate; early medical causes were reserved pending forensic results.

Effect on Goa. The incidents raised concerns about event health preparedness and drug enforcement.

Implication for incumbent government. Creates an oversight question for permissions, emergency care and investigation.

Underlying logic / rationale. Repeated event-related emergencies warrant scrutiny of prevention and response, while the organisers' and individuals' conduct must be assessed separately.

Assumptions. The events were sufficiently connected to the venue or its services to justify oversight review.

Limits and discrepancies. Do not label every 2019 death a confirmed overdose. A 2024 death and later forensic reporting concern a different individual and must not be added to the 2019 toll.

Response or counter-finding. Police and medical investigations are documented; final cause, prosecution and safety reforms require case-specific records.

Offshore casinos and relocation commitments

2019–2026; major dispute in 2026 · Mandovi, Panaji

Fact / G52-C1. Assembly records acknowledge repeated extensions for offshore operations; residents challenged a proposed larger casino vessel in 2026.

Effect on Goa. The controversy concerns river use, congestion, ecological risks and tourism's local costs and benefits.

Implication for incumbent government. Tests consistency between relocation commitments and operating permissions.

Underlying logic / rationale. Repeated extensions can weaken credibility of timelines; fees and employment benefits are relevant counter-considerations, not substitutes for lawful regulation.

Assumptions. Relocation promises were specific enough to evaluate and feasible alternatives existed.

Limits and discrepancies. Concerns about gambling or ecology are not proof of measured harm to all households or the river. Court restrictions on a new vessel are not a ban on every casino.

Response or counter-finding. The government reported casino fee revenue; the High Court required permission for new vessels. Check current orders and compliance.

Verification. Four-publication check; shared origins disclosed. Underlying audit, survey, inquiry or official statement is shared across some publications; four citations do not establish four independent measurements.

Siddhi Naik investigation controversy

2021 onward · Calangute and Bardez

Fact / G53-C1. Police found no evidence supporting murder and a closure report was reported; family concerns and later accounts of investigative status continued.

Effect on Goa. The unresolved public dispute affected trust in investigation and communication.

Implication for incumbent government. Creates an investigative-transparency question, not proof of a government cover-up.

Underlying logic / rationale. Clear forensic reasoning and consistent disclosure can sustain confidence even when evidence does not support prosecution.

Assumptions. Communication or investigation gaps were material; family dissatisfaction alone does not establish misconduct.

Limits and discrepancies. Conflicting closure and continuing-investigation accounts require the court file. No murder, sexual assault or culpable official conduct is established here.

Response or counter-finding. Police cited lack of evidence; obtain the accepted or rejected closure order and any subsequent investigation direction.

Sonali Phogat death and prosecution

August 2022; chargesheet 2022; court update 2026 · Anjuna and North Goa

Fact / G54-C1. CBI filed a chargesheet against two associates following Sonali Phogat's death in Goa.

Effect on Goa. The case raised concerns about tourist safety and narcotics oversight, without establishing state complicity.

Implication for incumbent government. Creates a safety and enforcement scrutiny issue of shared responsibility.

Underlying logic / rationale. Private alleged offending can expose regulatory or policing gaps only where prior knowledge, duty and omission are established.

Assumptions. Relevant enforcement could reasonably have prevented part of the exposure; this is not proved by the death alone.

Limits and discrepancies. Charges are not convictions. Reports differ on chargesheet page totals and filing dates; those details are not needed for the core finding.

Response or counter-finding. The investigation moved from Goa Police to CBI; a 2026 court report describes proceedings at the stage of arguments before charge.

Industrial accidents and prosecution gaps

2019–2026 reporting windows · Tuem, Cuncolim, Pilerne, Kundaim and Betul

Fact / G55-C1. Reporting on official data describes repeated factory accidents and limited prosecutions, including explosions and fires during the period.

Effect on Goa. Workers suffered death or injury and nearby communities faced industrial hazards.

Implication for incumbent government. Challenges inspection coverage and consistent enforcement.

Underlying logic / rationale. Employers hold immediate safety duties; public inspection and prosecution systems should detect and address preventable violations.

Assumptions. Reported cases fall under the same enforcement framework and prosecution totals use appropriate denominators.

Limits and discrepancies. Totals of 163, 175 and 138 cover different periods; do not combine them. Older industrial disasters in retrospective lists fall outside the requested window.

Response or counter-finding. Some convictions and court cases are reported. Obtain inspection histories and accident-wise enforcement outcomes before assigning individual negligence.

Verification. Four-publication check; shared origins disclosed. Underlying audit, survey, inquiry or official statement is shared across some publications; four citations do not establish four independent measurements.

Khazan livelihoods and crop losses

2024–2026 sources · Coastal saline lands and farming talukas

Fact / G56-C1. Official research identifies salinity and productivity challenges in khazan systems; crop-damage reporting records losses and compensation.

Effect on Goa. Farmers face production risk, reduced income and dependence on restoration or adaptive measures.

Implication for incumbent government. Tests agricultural support, land protection and timely relief.

Underlying logic / rationale. Public agencies influence drainage, bund maintenance, seed support and compensation, while weather and long-term land-use change also matter.

Assumptions. Identified public interventions address important constraints and reach affected farmers.

Limits and discrepancies. The evidence does not establish that all khazan decline began after 2019 or was caused by this government. Compensation announcements need payment verification.

Response or counter-finding. ICAR trials, training, subsidies and compensation provide documented positive responses; assess reach and continuity.

Verification. Below four-source threshold (2 readable supporting records). Underlying audit, survey, inquiry or official statement is shared across some publications; four citations do not establish four independent measurements.

Local government devolution gaps

2016–21 audit; reports tabled 2024 · Municipalities and panchayats

Fact / G57-C1. CAG found that formal devolution did not translate into complete practical transfer of functions, funds and personnel.

Effect on Goa. Weak autonomy and capacity can delay local decisions and obscure service responsibility.

Implication for incumbent government. Creates a state-level decentralisation accountability issue.

Underlying logic / rationale. The state determines much of the institutional framework. Assigning functions without adequate powers or staff can leave local bodies unable to deliver.

Assumptions. Greater effective devolution would improve at least some decisions; local administrative quality remains relevant.

Limits and discrepancies. The audits include pre-2019 years and sampled bodies. Legal compliance in some provisions and later reforms must be recognised.

Response or counter-finding. Audit recommendations address election powers, function mapping, finance and staffing; implementation needs current action-taken evidence.

Verification. Below four-source threshold (2 readable supporting records). Underlying audit, survey, inquiry or official statement is shared across some publications; four citations do not establish four independent measurements.

October 2026 protest permissions and detention

11–13 October 2026 · Azad Maidan, Panaji

Fact / G58-C1. Police blocked a planned CJP demonstration and detained protesters; later reporting describes judicial release and police explanations.

Effect on Goa. The incident raises access-to-protest and procedural-fairness questions.

Implication for incumbent government. Creates a current civil-liberties accountability question for the Home administration.

Underlying logic / rationale. Restrictions should be grounded in lawful, proportionate reasons. Judicial intervention can prompt scrutiny of those reasons.

Assumptions. The reported restrictions and release orders are accurately described.

Limits and discrepancies. Only a short time separates the incident from cutoff. Full orders and detention records were not obtained; do not announce a final illegality finding.

Response or counter-finding. Police cited previous permission-condition violations and other concerns. Evaluate the written reasons and court orders together.

Verification. Below four-source threshold (3 readable supporting records). Underlying audit, survey, inquiry or official statement is shared across some publications; four citations do not establish four independent measurements.

Goa villa cybercrime investigation

Reporting at 14 October 2026 cutoff · Villa-based operation in Goa

Fact / G59-C1. A contemporaneous report describes a Mumbai Police investigation into a cybercrime operation run from a Goa villa.

Effect on Goa. The alleged operation harmed victims beyond Goa and raised questions about detection of criminal businesses.

Implication for incumbent government. Creates a potential coordination question, with no established incumbent culpability.

Underlying logic / rationale. A crime occurring in Goa does not itself prove state negligence. Accountability requires evidence of warnings, knowledge or an omitted enforcement duty.

Assumptions. A relevant local enforcement opportunity existed; that has not yet been established.

Limits and discrepancies. The headline financial scale is an allegation and cannot be treated as verified loss to Goa. This breaking lead is not supported by four independent sources.

Response or counter-finding. The investigating agency’s action is documented in reporting; obtain official records and state cooperation details before drawing stronger conclusions.

Verification. Below four-source threshold (0 readable supporting records). Underlying audit, survey, inquiry or official statement is shared across some publications; four citations do not establish four independent measurements.

Readable core records: None meeting the current readable core check. Dossier sources below also include context and responses.

Sewage and pollution monitoring

2023–2024 regulatory records · Rivers, coast and industrial areas

Fact / G60-C1. Pollution-control records document monitoring and consent conditions; sewage and wastewater compliance require site-level assessment.

Effect on Goa. Untreated discharge presents ecological and health risks, but exposure and injury must be measured rather than assumed.

Implication for incumbent government. Creates an oversight question where specific breaches are substantiated.

Underlying logic / rationale. Authorities are accountable for monitoring and enforcing discharge standards. The existence of a monitoring programme alone proves neither failure nor success.

Assumptions. Identified exceedances correspond to meaningful exposure and a controllable source.

Limits and discrepancies. A comprehensive four-source inventory of wastewater violations was not established. No statewide disease burden is attributed to sewage here.

Response or counter-finding. Retain this as a coverage gap and obtain sampling tables, notices, treatment volumes and compliance outcomes for each site.

Verification. Below four-source threshold (1 readable supporting records). Underlying audit, survey, inquiry or official statement is shared across some publications; four citations do not establish four independent measurements.

Cash-for-jobs fraud and disputed official links

October 2024–October 2026 · Multiple locations

Fact / G61-C1. Police registered cases concerning payments for promised government jobs; later police inquiry rejected one accused person's allegations against named officials.

Effect on Goa. Jobseekers faced alleged financial loss and uncertainty about recruitment integrity.

Implication for incumbent government. Creates a substantial recruitment-trust issue, but does not establish that ministers sold jobs.

Underlying logic / rationale. Repeated fraud exploiting the promise of public employment tests transparent recruitment and enforcement. Proving private deception and proving official collusion are separate tasks.

Assumptions. Public confidence is affected by recruitment-related fraud and the perceived independence of investigation.

Limits and discrepancies. The accused's asserted money and applicant totals are allegations. Police findings of no supporting evidence must accompany political accusations; neither arrests nor allegations prove guilt.

Response or counter-finding. Police and ED investigations, official denials and continuing complaints are documented. A 2026 allegation about a different network cannot be used to reverse an earlier finding without new evidence.

Verification. Four-publication check; shared origins disclosed. Underlying audit, survey, inquiry or official statement is shared across some publications; four citations do not establish four independent measurements.

Nu Shi Nalini tanker grounding

October–December 2019 · Dona Paula and Mormugao

Fact / G62-C1. The naphtha-carrying tanker Nu Shi Nalini grounded off Goa in October 2019 and required specialist salvage.

Effect on Goa. The incident created a serious coastal safety risk and concern for communities and the visitor economy.

Implication for incumbent government. Tests maritime coordination and contingency readiness, with shared authority.

Underlying logic / rationale. The state has response responsibilities, while port and shipping authorities control other safety decisions. Accountability depends on the anchorage decision, warnings and salvage preparedness.

Assumptions. A relevant public duty or preventable omission can be documented; grounding alone does not establish state negligence.

Limits and discrepancies. Cargo figures differ between early official and media accounts. Risk of a spill is not proof that the whole cargo entered the sea or caused a measured economic loss.

Response or counter-finding. The state sought Navy, Coast Guard and professional assistance; later reporting describes refloating. Assess both the delay and successful mitigation.

Verification. Four-publication check; shared origins disclosed. Underlying audit, survey, inquiry or official statement is shared across some publications; four citations do not establish four independent measurements.

Tourism assets and Swadesh Darshan planning

Projects audited through 2021–22; report 2025 · Coastal circuit locations

Fact / G63-C1. The official audit summary identifies planning and utilisation problems in coastal tourism assets, including parking and helipad sites.

Effect on Goa. Unused or abandoned assets can tie up public resources without delivering promised access or tourism services.

Implication for incumbent government. Creates a project-appraisal and coordination accountability issue.

Underlying logic / rationale. Investment must be judged by functional use rather than expenditure alone. Missing coordination with local bodies can obstruct promised benefits.

Assumptions. The identified assets remained unusable at the audit date and have not since been repurposed successfully.

Limits and discrepancies. Do not describe all tourism investment as waste or add asset costs without checking overlap. This finding rests mainly on one audit origin.

Response or counter-finding. Obtain asset-wise completion, use, maintenance and corrective-action records to assess the current position.

Verification. Below four-source threshold (1 readable supporting records). Underlying audit, survey, inquiry or official statement is shared across some publications; four citations do not establish four independent measurements.

GST and revenue oversight weaknesses

2018–2021 transactions and later audit publication · State taxes and revenue departments

Fact / G64-C1. CAG summaries identify weak followup of non-filers, return mismatches and other revenue-control shortcomings.

Effect on Goa. Unresolved tax compliance and short levies can reduce revenue assurance; assessed amounts are not automatically permanent losses.

Implication for incumbent government. Creates a revenue-administration and financial-control challenge.

Underlying logic / rationale. Monitoring, reconciliation and consistent recovery protect resources for public services. Weak controls warrant scrutiny regardless of whether overall revenue rises.

Assumptions. The discrepancies are material and not resolved by subsequent reconciliation or recovery.

Limits and discrepancies. A mismatch may be explainable; it is not automatically evasion or fraud. Do not combine different audit samples into one unverified loss total.

Response or counter-finding. Departmental replies and subsequent recoveries must determine which observations remain open.

Verification. Below four-source threshold (3 readable supporting records). Underlying audit, survey, inquiry or official statement is shared across some publications; four citations do not establish four independent measurements.

Discrepancies and their treatment

These differences alter what can fairly be claimed. Source disagreements are not resolved by averaging incompatible numbers.

GMC deaths and oxygen causation

Twenty-six overnight deaths and 75 statewide deaths describe different populations. The later inquiry could not establish oxygen-pressure interruptions as the cause of deaths.

Treatment: No oxygen-attributable death total is asserted. Report escalation findings and the inquiry’s qualification together.

Source IDs: S396, S397, S385, P09

Fiscal debt denominator

The wider debt total divided by headline GSDP does not reproduce the quoted 29.93% ratio. The FRBM calculation excludes specified GST-compensation loans.

Treatment: Keep adjusted ratio and wider liability total separate; identify exclusions and reference year.

Source IDs: P02, S676, S677

NFHS child nutrition

A 2026 journal table gives Goa stunting 19.2, wasting 14.3 and underweight 16.5. The official factsheet gives 19.4, 16.3 and 19.9.

Treatment: Use official P06 values. The journal’s inconsistent rows are not independent confirmation.

Source IDs: P07, S007

NFHS anaemia and timing

Historical NFHS-4 to NFHS-5 child anaemia figures do not establish a 2026 level or isolate the post-2019 period. NFHS-6 released factsheets omit anaemia.

Treatment: Treat historical change as background; do not invent a latest-round estimate or significance.

Source IDs: S179, S181, S260, S261

Education index scales

State PGI and district PGI-D use different components and maximum scores. Some reporting combines them or reports a later score without a readable primary table.

Treatment: Do not splice district and state scores. Record reported improvement with a primary-table follow-up.

Source IDs: S008, S188, S280, S285

BOCW registrations

Seventy-five of 1,169 licensed construction sites were registered, 6.42%. One article describes this as the proportion of works executed.

Treatment: Use the audit’s registration denominator; do not describe 93.58% of licensed work as unbuilt.

Source IDs: P04, S691

Stampede casualty updates

An early headline says seven deaths; later accounts converge on six. Injury estimates change with reporting time and treatment counts.

Treatment: Use six deaths; disclose evolving injury totals without summing overlapping counts.

Source IDs: S560, S563, S565, S568, S658

Birch fire cause and legal status

Early gas-cylinder accounts differ from later pyrotechnics findings. Bail and charges are procedural events, not a final guilt finding.

Treatment: Identify inquiry/chargesheet attribution and date; do not treat an early cause claim or bail order as a conviction.

Source IDs: S017, S018, S378, S384, S011, S370

Road fatalities

Sources give 286 or 287 deaths for 2024, while fatal-crash counts differ by one. The units deaths, crashes and all accidents are distinct.

Treatment: Retain the one-person discrepancy. Do not add figures or claim an uninterrupted rise; reported 2025 deaths are lower.

Source IDs: S401, S404, S420, S426

Industrial accident totals

Totals of 138, 163 or 175 reflect different date ranges and whether fatalities, injuries or all accidents are counted. Older events predate the review.

Treatment: Do not add overlapping totals. Preserve individual event dates and exclude pre-2019 cases from period totals.

Source IDs: S594, S596, S599, S604

Cyclone loss estimates

Loss estimates change by assessment time, departmental coverage and relief valuation. Physical damage is not the same as compensation paid.

Treatment: Prefer dated official physical counts; do not total competing rupee estimates.

Source IDs: S429, S445, S449

Tanker cargo and pollution

Cargo quantities vary across early reports. Potential spill exposure differs from a documented spill; salvage later succeeded.

Treatment: Report grounding and risk without asserting a measured spill or a single reconciled cargo tonnage.

Source IDs: P15, S578, S585, S588

Cash-for-jobs official links

An accused person’s assertions about officials conflict with the later police finding of no material evidence supporting those allegations.

Treatment: Place the police finding adjacent to the allegation. Distinguish alleged private fraud from proven official misconduct.

Source IDs: S305, S306, S308, S301

Planning law and court remedies

Section 17(2), its rules and Section 39A are different instruments. Read-down, rules struck down, refusal to stay and final appellate merits are different legal steps.

Treatment: Describe the specific remedy and date. A suspension of conversions in one area is not statewide repeal.

Source IDs: S114, S119, S106, S129, S137

Tourism recovery

Domestic-plus-foreign arrivals, foreign tourists, charter passengers and flights have different denominators; longer historical series may be revised.

Treatment: A weaker foreign segment cannot be presented as a collapse of total tourism. Keep season and calendar-year comparisons separate.

Source IDs: S464, S469, S470, S471

Verification independence

Several articles reproduce one CAG audit, survey or inquiry. Four accessible publications are not four independent measurements of the same fact.

Treatment: Show readable supporting-record counts and shared origins. The strict four-independent-source requirement remains unmet.

Source IDs: P01, P02, P07

What the evidence permits

Overall assessment. The cases raise recurring questions about enforcement, project supervision, staffing, fiscal disclosure, planning discretion and responses to emergencies. These are defensible subjects for accountability review, with responsibility determined case by case.

Political consequence. They can create reputational exposure and demands for correction for the incumbent where the relevant duty, omission and persistence are documented. Electoral magnitude and actual changes in public trust remain unmeasured.

Necessary balance. The same evidence contains recovery, improvements and legal or causal limitations. Government action, private misconduct, local-body decisions and natural hazards cannot be combined into a single proved cause.

Research status. A source dossier covers different aspects of a case. The core-source count is a publication check for the narrow main statement, not certification of every secondary fact. Shared origins, access failures and disputed details are visible. A literal exhaustive census and four independent sources for every atomic fact were not achieved.

• Obtain readable current primary records for education indices, staffing, school closures and connectivity.

• Obtain full magisterial fire inquiry, stampede action-taken orders, oxygen committee report and final legal dispositions.

• Reconcile all case-specific numbers against four genuinely independent origins, not shared press-release lineage.

• Search all 12 talukas, monthly local-news archives, Assembly questions, CAG action-taken reports and published RTI responses.

• Complete agriculture/fisheries, housing, household-cost, sewage, bridge/road-delay and local-budget inventories.

• Refresh 2026 labour, tourism and fiscal statistics using comparable reference periods, definitions and revisions.

• Use grievance or representative survey evidence before estimating public trust, electoral effects or differences across communities.
